The folder programme in the form of a post card which was used for the amateur vaudeville given last week under the auspices of the woman's auxiliary of the Y. M. C. Writing to the Kies company the Queen Quality people of Boston say: "We are in receipt of the little folder and we wish you would express to them our congratulations upon this good little advertising novelty. It compares favorably with anything of its kind we have ever seen, and we trust that the returns fully justified the merchants who placed their ads with them."

ROUSED BY HOUSING PROBLEM

Chamber of Commerce Directors Vote to Have Real Estate Bureau Confer and Cooperate With Housing Co.—No Definite Plan But Strong Desire to Help in the Local Situation.

Confronted with the tremendous importance of adequately treating the housing situation in Norwich, which has developed to even greater magnitude than before because of the latest revelation of the expectation of the great growth promised for the Hopkins & Allen Arms Co., the directors of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce spent considerable of the time of their meeting on Tuesday evening in the rooms in the Transportation building in discussing what they and their organization could and ought to do.

President William A. Somers presided at the meeting and the minutes were kept by Secretary Charles W. Pearson.

No definite plan was proposed, but the opinion prevailed strongly among the directors present that no possible thing should be left undone by the business men and the community generally to make it certain that this city should not miss providing a way to ensure that the work should be done here if the state or federal government takes the 1,000,000 rifle contract for which it is negotiating.

The vote was passed that the real estate bureau of the chamber of commerce, of which William W. Beckwith is chairman and A. E. Cherry clerk, should confer and cooperate with the Norwich Housing company in every way that was possible.

Four new members proposed were accepted—Dr. John J. Donohue, John A. Moran, The Maurice Sample Shop and the D. S. Marsh Co.

The directors appointed the following as the committee of arrangements for the annual banquet of the Eastern Connecticut Development committee, which it is expected will be held in this city: H. B. Branche, L. M. Crandall, C. W. Pearson, W. A. Somers, John E. Vaughn, Frank H. Smith, C. J. Isbister and E. L. Root. The date and place for the banquet have not yet been decided upon.

It was also voted to have the president appoint a committee of five to serve as a committee regarding the matter of a permanent tariff commission which is a matter that has the endorsement of the national chamber of commerce and upon which a national referendum vote that has been taken by civic organizations showed 715 for and 9 against.

The directors also endorsed the plan of the national chamber of commerce for the establishment of a committee of state chambers of commerce, one of whose duties shall be to standardize, as far as possible, the state organizations already established.

The directors also adopted a resolution requesting congress to acquire the Chesapeake and Delaware canal, to adopt the project of a modern waterway across the state of New Jersey and the early completion of the waterway between Norfolk, Va. and Beaufort, North Carolina, with other important matters referring to the development of the Atlantic Deep Waterways project and the extension of the intracoastal waterway in the New England states.

A number of other routine matters were also taken up and were referred to the various bureaus.

Eight amendments to the by-laws referring to subsidiary organizations of the chamber of commerce were given on the first reading and will come up for adoption later.

STRINGS OF LIGHTS ACROSS MAIN STREET

Put Up at the Manhattan for Christmas Season Decorations.

On Tuesday evening Main street in front of the Manhattan blazed out in an electric illumination put up by the Manhattan, where four strings of red, white and blue electric lights spanned the street as a special decoration for the Christmas season.

There were forty lights in each string and the effect was bright, cheery and beautiful, particularly when seen from Franklin square, where with the electric lights on the Portico, the returns fully justified the merchants who placed their ads with them.

LEBANON CASE ON TRIAL IN COURT

Over Claim Made by Adopted Son of Rev. Robert Turner.

In the superior court here on Tuesday, after the court had been informed that two appeals from probate that were assigned for trial had been settled, the trial of the case of Arthur P. Turner, administrator, of Lebanon, against Thosa Gidman Turner, executor of Lebanon, was taken up for trial before Judge William L. Bennett and a jury. Attorney W. A. King of Willimantic and Attorney C. W. Comstock were counsel for the plaintiff; Attorneys H. A. Hull and C. Hadial Hull for the defendant.

The plaintiff is an adopted son of the late Rev. John Turner of Lebanon and his wife, Mary A. Turner. Mrs. Turner died in 1906 and Rev. Mr. Turner in 1911. He left his second wife, who was Thosa Gidman Turner, of Lebanon.

The plaintiff in this case claims that his mother died possessed of the sum of $1,500.00, which was in the bank, and that a week before she died she told him that she wanted him to have the money. He made a claim upon Thosa Gidman Turner, who was executor of her husband's will, but she declined to pay over the money and the suit was brought.

The defense claims that Rev. Mr. Turner received the money by transfer during his life and that he paid it to Thosa Gidman Turner, who was executor of her husband's will, but she declined to pay over the money and the suit was brought.

Witnesses called for the plaintiff were Arthur P. Turner, Basile E. Turner and Myron C. Peckham. Then the plaintiff rested at 2.15 o'clock and the defense called as witnesses Chauncey B. Woodworth, Thosa Gidman Turner, Mrs. Caroline A. Peckham, E. L. Yerrington and Mrs. Gertrude H. Pendleton.

The jury in the case comprises Edmund A. Prentice, James D. McCarthy, Norwich; Heman A. Davis, Maurice R. Flynn, Preston; George A. Haskopff, Hoppam; Griewood; John H. Stedman, Clarence E. Maine, North Stonington; A. Douglas Winchester, East Lyme; William B. Sprague, Fred B. Kinne, Lisbon, and Frank P. Kinnle, Voluntown.

The other appeal from probate that was settled was in the case of Orrin D. Vergason of Lefingwell, an uncle and heir at law of Anna A. Bushnell, widow of William Bushnell. She lived on Oneo street and died about a year ago, leaving her property, which consisted of two houses for the benefit of a few of her friends and that they should use one of the houses for a home. Then in case the house could not be used the money was to go to her friends but the chief beneficiary was Nellie L. Bushnell. It was claimed by those who opposed the will that Nettie L. Bushnell used undue influence over Mrs. Bushnell, who was not in full normal condition to make a will.

It is said the estate amounted to about $5,000 though an inventory has not yet been filed with the probate court. Ebenezer Allen is the executor of the will. In the settlement Mr. Vergason is to be paid $100.

One of the cases which it was stated had been settled was that of Mrs. Nellie S. Leavenworth against Lucius Brown, executor of the will of Mrs. Ellen Satterlee of Gales Ferry. When Mrs. Satterlee died she left her estate of about $5,000 to her daughter, Mrs. Frederick Richards, of Laurel Hill in this city. There were three other children and all were satisfied with the will except Nellie S. Leavenworth, who appealed.

THE L. A. GALLUP CO.

FORMER DANIELSON PRIEST.

Rev. Victor Faure, M. S., Has Served Under French Flag Since August, 1914.

Out of the thirty-five priests of the Order of La Salette who are serving in the war under the French flag, only one came from America, Rev. Victor Faure, M. S., formerly assistant pastor of Our Lady of Sorrows church in Parkville and before that an assistant pastor at Danielson.

His life as a soldier has been filled with many thrills, said Tuesday's Hartford Courant, and he has had many miraculous escapes since he has been at the front in the eastern division of the French army under General Dubail. He has seen some of the fiercest fighting since the war began. Father Faure was on the active list of the French army and when the mobilization took place he was called from his post as assistant pastor of the Sacred Heart church in Stansstad, Canada. Going at once to New York he sailed on the steamship France on August 19, 1914, and went directly to his former home in Gap, France, where he was mustered into service in the hospital corps. For over a year he was in the winter headquarters, caring for the wounded, burying the dead, administering the last rites of the church, and trying to perform his religious duties as well as he could under adverse circumstances.

Last July he was assigned to field duty as a litter bearer and since that time he had many narrow escapes, and so far has come out without a scratch. In his last letter he describes an experience which occurred while he and another comrade were carrying a wounded man to the rear. A shell burst in front of them, tearing the other litter bearer and the wounded man in pieces. Father Faure was knocked down and buried with dirt, but was uninjured. Other experiences which he has related, include the times when he was a target for German aeroplane bombs. In one city where he stayed over twenty women and children were killed by one of the bombs.
